Our retreats don't promise change, but they open the door to possibilities, growth and sisterhood. The rest is up to each individual.

We offer music, dance and laughter and many forms of spirituality. There are opportunities to spend time with a friend, a group, or find peace in the solitude of your own journey.

By the way, the food offered at Retreats is excellent, and special care is taken to accommodate all types of eating needs.

How do we as women, like "a river of birds in migration" band together to find a still point of balance within ourselves to maintain hope and act skillfully in the world? How can we be wise?

– Melody Lee
